

NEW CHARTER RIGHT WILL BE VOTED IN COUNCIL MONDAY

Councilman Johnson Will Introduce Resolution Embodying Mayor's Idea for Two Committees to Draw Plans

Opposition to Movement Developing at City Hall Indicates
Hot Fight Before
Question Is Settled

The fight for a new charter for the city of Atlanta to replace the present antiquated and much patched relief document under which the city is now operating will be launched in the city council on Monday afternoon by Councilman Edwin F. Johnson, of the Sixth ward. Since the first business session several months ago that Mayor Woodward and the new charter, politicians about the city hall have been quietly making opposition for any effort to change the charter and now the fight is on.

Councilman Johnson's resolution will call upon council to authorize the mayor to appoint two committees of twenty-five each, one committee composed of stanch advocates of commission government and the other of equally firm believers in the so-called representative plan of government, to draft charters for the city.

Then the councilman's resolution provides that council shall let the legislature submit the two charters to be submitted to the people at an election in the fall, and one or the other adopted to replace the present charter.

MAJOR'S PLAN.
This is the plan advanced by Mayor Woodward in his annual message. The plan has been amended by Councilman Johnson principally in that his resolution provides that the committee appointed by the mayor be authorized to submit to the people the two charters subject to ratification by the general council. This provision, it is believed, will prevent the mayor from submitting the two charters to the people without the approval of the council.

In the past the resolutions on the subject of charter reform is well known, and he has stated in interviews that in the fall he wants to see the city hall cleared out by election from top to bottom and is perfectly willing to "clean up his own job."

The politicians of the city hall "got mad" immediately after the city hall was cleared out by election from top to bottom and is perfectly willing to "clean up his own job."

However, the mayor is prepared for the fight. He has been selected to lead the fight for charter reform, and he is going to do it. He is going to do it. He is going to do it.

London Believes Defensive Tactics of Germans in Poland Is Forerunner of Big Movement of Troops West

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Jan. 18.—London recalled today the forty-fourth anniversary of the proclamation of Wilhelm II as German emperor, and it was expected that the day might bring news of a widespread German effort to follow up with a still more important movement the successes achieved last week about Brest-Litovsk.

In London it is believed the Germans have adopted what virtually is a defensive role west of Warsaw—some British observers arguing that it has been forced upon them by superior Russian numbers—and that the defensive tactics synchronous with the movement of many thousands of Teutonic troops from Poland to the western battlefields.

Fighting at Solonska some British commentators declare to be the precursor of the entry of the new troops upon a vigorous offensive, perhaps an attempt to capture the River Silesia. At Solonska the French failed to hold their positions on the German bank of the river, and for the Germans to attempt to gain the southern bank is regarded as probable development.

As to future engagements in that region, it appears to be a fact that the French artillery on the hills south of the Alsne commands all the approaches to the river and that it will have to be reckoned with.

In the past the resolutions on the subject of charter reform is well known, and he has stated in interviews that in the fall he wants to see the city hall cleared out by election from top to bottom and is perfectly willing to "clean up his own job."

TAX RATE IS HEARD CITY MUST BE INCREASED OR MAYOR SAYS—BOND ISSUE WILL NOT HELP, HE SAYS

Efforts of the finance committee Monday morning to "harmonize" the 1915 budget before it goes to council in the afternoon were successful in that they left only one actively disgruntled member. But now Mayor James G. Woodward says the committee has anticipated an "entirely too much" revenue, and the sheet, if it should happen to be adopted by council, is facing the executive veto.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 18.—Second Lieutenant Frank R. Clay, seventeenth infantry, who disappeared from New Orleans several days ago, was found today at Melrose, La., a hamlet in St. James parish, according to a telephone message from Sheriff O. Golf, of St. James parish.

The sheriff did not state under what conditions the supposed Clay was found, but he would hold him until the arrival of relatives, who are searching in that section for the missing officer. Believed That Clay Was

Suffering With Amnesia
The missing army officer was traced at Melrose, La., by letters dropped from his pockets, and is known to have walked from that place to Garyville, La., while retaining apparently no memory of his own identity. He was seen in several Louisiana towns near the Mississippi river was evidently temporarily deranged, and said he was looking for his mother. He believed Lieutenant Clay, who had been three years in the Philippines, had contracted some illness while remaining apparently in a temporary loss of mind, and while in that condition went wandering over the state, not remembering his name or his identity.

It developed Monday that the last word from Lieutenant Clay while he was in a normal condition came in a telegram to an Atlanta friend, dated from New Orleans on December 18. That message was couched in well balanced and sane terms, and it was evident that if Lieutenant Clay was stricken by amnesia it occurred subsequent to this message.

Many instances are on record of cases of amnesia caused by a blow on the head, but in this case there was nothing which had gone before his name, his family, his entire past life, while retaining apparently no memory in other respects. Usually there has been some cause for the amnesia, and this frequently has been equally as sudden as the change from normal to abnormal.

Herbert Clay went to Reserve upon hearing that his brother was in the state. It was learned that the strange man, who walked to Garyville, La., and who was seen in several Louisiana towns near the Mississippi river was evidently temporarily deranged, and said he was looking for his mother. MOTION TO ADVANCE CASE OF FRANK NASHIN ORDER

Appeal Is Docketed and State's Counsel May Be Heard Next Monday

The state of Georgia's motion to advance the case of the Leo M. Frank habeas corpus appeal case on the docket of the United States supreme court probably will be made before that court next Monday, January 19.

Associated Press dispatches Monday say the appeal has been docketed and that the state of Georgia may at any time move to have it advanced for an early hearing; that without such action it will not be reached in the regular course of that court's business for nearly eighteen months.

Attorney General Warren Grice, when informed that the state's motion probably would confer during the day had argued to have the state's motion put off immediately. He said he or the solicitor would go to Washington to present the motion, and that it would probably be submitted to the court next Monday.

Monday are motion days in the United States supreme court, and should the state's attorneys find it impossible to file their motion next Monday, they will have to wait until the following Monday.

DR. WHITE PAYS TRIBUTE TO MR. SAMUEL INMAN

Title of "First Citizen" Reward for Life Above Reproach, Says Minister

A beautiful tribute to the late Mr. Samuel M. Inman was paid by Dr. John E. White Sunday morning when he spoke, as a tribute to the sermon, on "First Citizen," at the Atlanta Tabernacle. Dr. White remarked on the unique manner in which all Atlanta concentrated in a simple unity to honor her "first citizen." It was an election, he said, held long before Mr. Inman's death, placing, without his knowledge or consent, without appointment or nomination, the crown of "first citizen" on the brow of him who was asked for the right conferred on him by his fellow men.

"The title of 'first citizen' is not the achievement of any single deed of service, however heroic, timely or momentous in consequence," he said. "It is an unimpeachable dignity. It is the reward of public and private character, of the social conscience, it is the inevitable pressure of a great life on the social common sense."

Rev. William E. Hill, pastor of West End Presbyterian church, also paid tribute to the memory of Mr. Inman, when he declared "it was not Samuel Inman, the millionaire, who had endeavored himself to the people of Atlanta, but it was Samuel Inman, the man."

"It was not Mr. Inman's wealth that commands for him the love and respect of his fellow-citizens," he said, "but it was Mr. Inman himself who made his wealth a blessing to Atlanta."

HABITUALLY GROUGH NOT CHRISTIAN, SAYS PASTOR

Epigrams on nearly all subjects were turned Sunday by Rev. Charles M. Dunaway, revivalist, now preaching at the old Baptist Tabernacle. He bitterly denounced the millionaires who claim themselves Christians who are habitual groghs. He advocated the bright smiling countenance and an expression of the joy of living, which, he said, every true Christian should have.

Mr. Dunaway will be heard at this church at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. throughout the week.

N. A. GORDON FUNERAL HELD MONDAY MORNING

That Nathan A. Gordon, the deaf mute, whose body was discovered yesterday night in a room in the Williams hotel, came to his death by his own hand was the verdict of a coroner's jury, impaneled Sunday afternoon. The inquest was held at the undertaking rooms of the Greenberg-Rand company, where Gordon had requested his body be taken. The funeral was held there Monday morning at 10 o'clock and the interment was in Oakland cemetery.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS WORKING TO INCREASE MEMBERSHIP

"Go-to-Sunday-School Sunday, February 14" Slogan Over State

The Sunday schools of all denominations in Georgia are going to have a "Go-to-Sunday-School Sunday" on a plan similar to the "Go-to-Church Sunday" promoted by the churches of all denominations in Atlanta on the first Sunday in January, and the date for the big event is Sunday, February 14.

The movement is promoted by the Georgia Sunday School association, which is an organization embracing Sunday schools of all denominations and working for the improvement of Sunday school methods.

The present percentage of Sunday school enrollment among the white population of Georgia is 21.5. In the other states, out of a white population of 5,232,461 the regular Sunday school attendance is 122,165.

This is a great deal smaller than the association thinks it ought to be, and the association believes one of the reasons for this small percentage is the fact that the majority of Sunday schools in this state are loosely organized and taught with very little system.

On February 14 every Sunday school in the state is asked to make a special effort to enlarge its attendance and to enlist as many of the newcomers as possible on the regular roll.

The association is making a systematic campaign to improve the methods of conducting and teaching in the Sunday schools over the state, without regard to denominational lines, and already has accomplished substantial results.

ATLANTA WOMAN RECEIVES CARD FROM BATTLE LINE

Nephew Wounded, but Is Firm in Belief That Germans Will Win

Mrs. Charles Berea, of 145 Piedmont avenue, has received an interesting postcard from her nephew, William Hogen, who is an officer in the German army. He was wounded on October 21 in the fighting around Ypres. On the reverse side of his card is a picture of himself in his uniform, with his left arm in a sling and the iron cross on his breast. Across his face is the healed wound of a "war" wound.

His card reads as follows:

"Dear Uncle and Aunt, I was wounded on the 21st of October. I sent you this card with kind regards from mother and me. I fought with our young troops in Flanders (Belgium) against the English. It was on the northeast of Ypres, a name that has become famous in the history of the world, and which you surely read of oftentimes now in all the news. On all lines our troops are advancing victoriously. And although the French and English are leaving armies against us in the whole world we shall throw them back wherever they come. Yesterday the Russians were thrown back completely and decisively. On the 16th of December our feet made an attack on the English shore. The English are now very much shaken, and that is right. They will get still some more. I wish you all a happy Christmas and New Year. May it bring us all peace, peace in this terrible war. Good-bye. With kindest regards, etc."

TUESDAY WILL BE FAIR AND COLD, IS FORECAST

Wind Will Drive Storm Clouds Away and Send Mercury Down

This storm that has soaked our landscape and busted up our golf game and muddled our spirits is now centered over northwest Georgia and is fixing to take its departure.

It will begin to move Monday afternoon, and when this happens the wind will shift again, and it will be cold and crisp, with a tingling wind.

The meteorologist Hermann is able to couché with reasonable certainty, but he will go no further. January is a very unsettled month, he said Monday when questioned as to the prospect for extended fair weather, and it isn't safe for a weather man to reach too far ahead with his prognosticator.

THREE SAVANNAH LIQUOR DEALERS LOSE IN COURT

Supreme Court Sustains Fine of $200 or 20 Days in Jail Imposed on Them

A somewhat substantial answer to the oft-repeated statement that public sentiment in Savannah upholds those who violate the state prohibition laws; that the courts and grand juries of that city are partial to liquor dealers, is given by the decision of the state supreme court in three cases passed on by the state supreme court Monday.

These cases all involve injunction suits brought by W. B. Stubbs, representing a law enforcement league against men alleged to be selling liquor. They were brought under that section of the state code which provides injunctions as remedies to abate hindrances.

Judge W. G. Charlton, of the Chatham superior court, issued temporary injunctions against the defendants and later fined each of the defendants $200 or 20 days in jail, on the ground that they failed to obey the injunction. The defendants appealed from Judge Charlton's sentence to the state supreme court, and that tribunal Monday affirmed his judgments.

The defendants who must now pay $200 each or serve twenty days in jail are: J. Wood, 314 West Broad street; J. D. & L. Wertz, 401-43 West Broad street; and John G. Ellipello, 242 West Broad street.

The River Wirtz, near Radzanow, but were repulsed. Nothing of importance has transpired in the Polish Wirtz. German Attacks Repulsed, Says Paris Statement
PARIS, Jan. 18.—The French war office this afternoon gave out an official communication reading as follows: "The German army has been repulsed yesterday a violent storm, particularly in Belgium. The day saw artillery fighting at certain points. The German army has been repulsed in the sectors of the Somme and Rheims there was no change. In the region of Paris there has been very efficient marksmanship on the part of our artillery on the positions of the enemy."

"In Argonne the German attacks on Hill 140 today were repulsed. The German brought no result. We took possession of several German field works to the northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, in the only part of the forest of Le Petit which is still in the hands of the enemy. We here later repulsed a counter attack and maintained all our gains."

"In the Vosges there has been a heavy fall of snow. The enemy bombarded Thionville without inflicting serious damage."

SOUTH GEORGIA FARMING DELAYED BY HEAVY RAIN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
THOMASVILLE, Ga., Jan. 18.—Farming operations in south Georgia have been somewhat delayed by rain this month, but a good deal has been accomplished and with bright weather for the week there will be a rush to break up the land and get everything in readiness for spring crops.

The oat crop planted in the fall is in fine condition and bids fair to make a fine yield this season. Many farmers in the county planted small experiments of wheat and so far it is doing well. Some few put in a large acreage and if successful they will go into it on a large scale next year. The food crops will be planted in Thomas county and it is the general belief that the cotton acreage will be cut, probably about half.

ATLANTA FIRM'S COTTON REACHES HOLLAND SAFELY

Consignment From Inman,
Akers & Inman Crosses
Without Difficulty

News was received by The Journal Monday of the safe arrival of two ships carrying cotton for Inman, Akers & Inman, of Atlanta, from Savannah to Rotterdam, Holland.

The Georgian, carrying 15,000 bales, reached the Holland port Saturday, seventeen days from her date of sailing, and the Medina, carrying 15,000 bales, reached port Sunday.

The voyage of both vessels across the Atlantic was made in remarkably good time, even under normal conditions, and in view of the European war and consequent interruption of commerce, the passage is considered extraordinary.

It is stated that neither of the vessels was molested by ships or of any belligerent power nor were they halted at sea for an examination of their cargoes.

The shipment of this cotton to Rotterdam shows a demand for the staple in Europe and further shows that European importers are offering prices satisfactory to exporters in this country.

The fact that the vessels went without molestation, and that they seem to indicate that England and other belligerent powers will no longer interrupt American shipments of non-contraband cargoes, cotton being on the non-contraband list.

The firm of Inman, Akers & Inman, of Atlanta, was the first to take up with the United States government the matter of securing safe passage of cotton from this country to European ports. At the time this firm took this action it looked as if no cotton could be shipped.

TROLLEY CAR TRIES TO TRAVEL ON TWO TRACKS

Automatic Switch, Thrown Too
Soon, Causes Unusual
Situation

A large double-track street car headed for the barn Monday morning, got itself astraddle of Five Point in a manner quite remarkable. The car was proceeding along Market street in charge of a barn motorman and had no passengers aboard. At Five Points the motorman threw the automatic switch to turn the car into Edgewood avenue for the run to the barn. The switch acted before the right hand of the empty car got into Edgewood avenue.

At a moment the empty car found itself with the front trucks headed down Edgewood avenue and the rear trucks headed down Decatur street, and there it was, at right angles across the fork in the tracks, blocking the street, with people laughing at its funny plight. The street car men got it righted in a few minutes, and the car went on its way to the barn.

Schmidt Leaves Dairy Farm and Winds Up at the Stockade

"Back from Newnan: Or the Death of the Dairy," was the title of the recitation delivered in Judge George Johnson's court Monday morning by Schmidt, alias "Out-again-in-again," who was recently sentenced to six months in the county jail for a cow case because of his fondness for the cup that cheers.

Joe arrived in Atlanta Saturday night, after serving but ten days of his sentence. A few hours after his return he was arrested by Officer Steve Felder for drinking drunk and disorderly.

Joe told the recorder Monday morning that he liked the dairy farm fine, and had developed an extreme taste for milk, when all his good intentions were suddenly blasted by the failure of the dairyman and the foreclosure of a mortgage on the farm. Joe at once departed for the city. He admitted that he drank anything but milk once he hit Atlanta.

Enter--The New Embroideries

The Initial Display Brings Into Deserved Prominence the Ideas New Right Now

"Did you ever see such a sheer fabric?" She stopped, in passing, to exclaim over one of the new embroidery flouncings of mousseline de soie.

She struck the very keynote of the display, the initial display of the season, arranged for Tuesday. The new embroideries are exquisitely sheer and fine in fabric, and, as if to exaggerate this sheerness, have patterns that seem more the work of nature, as it traces the frost on a window, than they do the work of big, heavy, hand-loom machines.

We speak of

The New Flouncings, The New Allovers, The New Edges,

The New Insertions, The New Beadings

All so very fine; all so very dainty; all so very novel. Surely here is a display worthy of the interest of every woman, and that right now.

For there is no telling when any more such embroideries will be brought to America. Fact is, very few stores have any such right now.

The Flouncings

Not so wide as in former seasons. This year 12 to 27 inches wide, to be used, indeed, as flouncings.

Aero Cloths, Organdies, Mousselines de Soie, Georgette Crepes, Voiles, in white, cream and ecru, embroidered in white and colors.

Shadow embroidery, the very finest French patterns, filed edged, Chenille worked on (in colors) by hand, and rarely beautiful flat Venise edges.

DISTINCTIVE NOVELTIES are the narrow CIRCULAR FLOUNCINGS of aero cloth; French and shadow embroidery and edged with flat Venise, and the aero cloth flouncings with piquet edges in colors.

Manager Smith May Take Team Away From Home for Spring Training

DIANA DILLPICKLES IN

(HER FANCY SKATER BEAU)

A 4-REEL "SCREECHER" FILM

Crackers May Have to Leave Home to Train

Manager Billy Smith Fears That Ponce de Leon Can't Be Put in Shape for Early Practice—May Seek Training Camp Elsewhere

Some two or three months ago President Baugh of the Birmingham Barons announced that his team would seek early training quarters in Florida, thereby setting a precedent in this league of leaving home for early practice. Just now it appears that the Crackers may likewise hunt other quarters for their first limbering up stunts. But with the Crackers the trip will be compulsory, if it is made. The condition of the playing field at Ponce de Leon will be the consideration to drive the local athletes away from home.

Since his return from Springfield early last week Manager Billy Smith has been scurrying around trying to learn just what the possibilities are of getting Ponce de Leon in shape for use by the middle or latter part of March. Just at present there is a yawning chasm stretching through the park and along the third base line, that approaches the dimensions of a football field. This big trench is to contain the sewer which is being laid through the park.

But in addition to the ditch proper, the playing field has been otherwise mutilated and tarred. Such work requires a lot of time, and additional time must be allowed for the turf to set and the field to dry out.

It is a practical certainty that the field can not be put in shape for the early training of the local club, and it is very doubtful whether or not it will be in shape for exhibition games with big league clubs scheduled to play here. This means, of course, that some other quarters will have to be secured for practice of the Crackers, and it may mean that exhibition games scheduled will have to be cancelled.

As yet Manager Smith has made no move toward selecting another camp. Though he has not in his mind, provided it becomes necessary. The county construction department has promised to rush the work as rapidly as possible, but any prolonged spell of bad weather, which will hinder the work, will make its completion anywhere near the time promised impossible.

Several Georgetown alumni in Atlanta are interested in the proposition, and they will ask them to help in carrying out the plan. Virginia and the Virginia Military Institute both played football games with the Georgia teams last season, and it has been suggested that a trip to Atlanta and Athens the latter part of this week for such a purpose. Georgetown has already scheduled baseball games with the teams for the coming season, and desires to include one or both of the Georgia institutions on her football schedule.

THE SPORTLIGHT

BY GRANTLAND RICE

CASEY'S UP TO DATE.

(Showing how very, very long ago Colonel E. L. Thayer wrote.) The outlook wasn't brilliant for a speedy court decree. As the judge's golf engagement was a quarter after three; And so when Gilmore took his place, supplanting Garry's left, A sickly silence fell upon the few fans that were left.

A few poor boobs got up to go in deep despair, the rest Clung to that dove which springs eternal in the baseball breast; They thought if only Casey could get a chance to land— Well, they'd put up even money with old Casey on the stand.

But Ban preceded Casey with R. Ward amid the frame— And one was quite a talker, and the other was the same; So upon the strictest gathering now laid a heavy hand, And when, responding to the Casey's coming to the stand.

For there seemed but little chance of Casey's coming to the stand. But Ban talked but an hour to the wonderment of all; And Colonel Ward spoke even less before he left the hall; Whereat the cheering echoes struck the court room with a jar, For Casey, mighty Casey, was advancing to the bar.

There was kale in Casey's pocket as he stepped into his place, There were contracts in his fingers—and a yawn on Casey's face; And when the prosecutor put a hand upon each hip, Not a rooster in the place could doubt 'twas Casey on the hip.

The eyes of all were on him as he sought his counsel's ear; The tongues of all applauded as he sent out for a beer; And when the prosecutor put a hand upon each hip, Defence gleamed in Casey's eye—a sneer curled Casey's lip.

And now some pop-eyed lawyer started handing out hot air, And Casey started laughing him in puzzled grandeur there; Close by the sturdy batman seven Latin phrases sped; "Pro bono," started Casey, "if object," the lawyer said.

From the benches down below him there went up a muffled roar, Like growling that once echoed when he sought an umpire's floor; "Kill him—kill that hyster!" shouted some one from the clan; And it's likely they'd have mobbed him had not Casey winked at Ban.

With a smile of Blackstone wisdom mighty Casey's visage shone; He called the court to order and he bade the judge go on;

He signalled to the lawyer for several moments drudged—"I object," said Casey loudly—but the judge yelled, "Overruled!" "Fraud!" yelled the mad fanatics, and the echoes answered fraud; But one legal look from Casey and the audience was awed; They saw his face grow stern and cold—they saw his jawbone strain, And they knew that Casey wouldn't boot that Latin phrase again.

They saw him call his counsel close and shake his curly fist; They saw, and shuddered as they looked—a watch upon his wrist; And when they handed him a hat, marked as Exhibit A— He said, "That isn't in my line," and sadly turned away.

The sneer is gone from Casey's lip—his jaw began to crack; A court attendant had to come and pound him on the back; "Now tell us, old dog," said the judge, "tell us who gets the dough," And Casey murmured, "Quod erat pro bono publico."

Oh, somewhere in this favored land they're playing games outdoors; Somewhere the golfers bat the pill along the open moors; And somewhere they have passed today that still are partly sport— But there is no joy in ballroom—Mighty Casey's gone to court.

In behalf of most earnest athletes it is but just to say that practically all of the court stuff was inaugurated from up above. Only in small part is it any fault of the players that the renowned pastime has been transferred from the field to the courts.

Some one has opened another argument, desiring to know who has been mainly responsible for the growth of baseball in the past—the magnate, the player, the fan or the press?

Why not split it four ways and turn attention to the citizens who are about to be responsible for the slump of baseball in the future?

Feds and Orgs Preparing for Suit Wednesday

Hearing on Suit to Dissolve National Commission Will Come Up on That Date—Both Sides Active in Lining Up Testimony

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—With only two days remaining in which to carry out their arguments, counsel for the Federal league and organized baseball were in conference today, putting the final touches on the case which will open before Judge Landis in the United States district court on Wednesday.

Although affidavits have been submitted by sixteen club owners of the National and American leagues and officials of the two organizations, it was said that only a few of the men would attend the hearing unless Judge Landis feels it necessary to call on them for further information. They will be represented by attorneys.

August Heintz, chairman of the national baseball commission, is expected to be the most important witness for the defense. With him will be R. B. Johnson, president of the American league, and John K. Tener, president of the National, the remaining two members of the national commission.

For the Federal league, which seeks to prevent organized baseball from interfering with its players or operations, James A. Gilmore, president of the organization, is expected to be the chief witness. R. B. Ward, of the Brooklyn Federal, and President Robertson, of the Buffalo club, also have taken the case, who form the executive committee of the league, will have complete charge of the case for the plaintiffs.

Gilmore left for New York yesterday, saying he was going on important business and would return on Wednesday. It was said that his mission relates to the lawsuit.

B. A. C. Is Next On Club's List

The Athletic club basketball team will make its second trip of the season Saturday, when Coach Joe Hoan takes his boys to Birmingham to meet the Alabama Athletic Five. This will be one of the real big games of the season for the local boys, and the outcome will be awaited with great interest.

The games with Birmingham, one in this and one at the other here, are among the features of the local season. Last year the two broke even, each winning one of the two games. This season the team hopes to take the jump by trimming the Slagtown boys on their own turf.

With Bismarck, Tommy Gowan and other veterans on the team, the Athletics will be a tough proposition to handle. But the local quintet showed some real basketball in their game with Vanderbilt Friday night, and they have in any game to date. If they repeat Saturday night, their chances to win should be very bright indeed.

George Randolph Chester

Famous Author, says:

"Why shouldn't a man be willing to recommend a tobacco which gives as cool, sweet and satisfying a smoke as Tuxedo."

For Mentally Alert Men—Tuxedo

George Randolph Chester's stories have delighted thousands through the mental alertness, good humor, and keen mind shown by the wily promoter.

When George Randolph Chester writes of things typically American he knows what he is talking about; and when he endorses Tuxedo—the typically American tobacco—his endorsement carries great weight with the keen-minded, alert and brainy smokers of this country.

is made especially to maintain the American spirit of good humor. Its constant use benefits a man's mind and body, by keeping him happy and physically fit.

Tuxedo is the finest Kentucky Burley—the world's premier smoking-tobacco leaf—made absolutely non-biting by the original "Tuxedo Process" that has never been successfully imitated. Tuxedo is delightfully mild, fragrant, rich, and gives a cool and satisfying smoke. Tuxedo is in a class by itself.

Castro Chosen To Referee Bout

Low Castro has been selected as the third man in the ring when Johnny Evers and Jimmy Pappas clinch through the ropes at the Biltmore Thursday night for their ten-round battle. Roy Potts has been named as referee, and the count will mark his first appearance in a real bout here this season.

Potts has also completed arrangements for the rest of his card. As previously announced, Battling Bull will hook up with Kid York in the semi-final. Spider Britt will appear in the first time in many months, tackling George Dams, a Chicago bantam. This pair is ranked for six rounds. Kid Arthur meets Young Gardner in a four-round blowoff.

Orgs Confident, Winter Tourney Says Heydler

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—John B. Heydler, secretary of the National league, planned to leave today for Chicago to be present at the hearing on Wednesday night of the National league and organized baseball. Mr. Heydler said that practically all the sixteen club owners of both the National and American leagues will attend the hearing. President Tener, of the National league, he said, will have to wait at Harrisburg until Tuesday, when the inauguration of the new governor of Pennsylvania will take place. He expects to arrive in Chicago, however, in time for the hearing.

Club officials of organized baseball feel very confident that they will win the suit, according to Secretary Heydler.

Georgia Quintet Plays Columbus Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 18.—One of the big games of the local basketball season will be played here Saturday night. The Georgia quintet comes for its annual local game with the Columbus V. M. C. A. team. Last season the Georgia boys won the game, being the only team

Clyde Wares to Pilot Wichita

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 18.—Clyde Wares, mentioned a few weeks ago as a possibility as manager of the Little Rock club in the Southern league, will not handle the reins over the team. Wares has been favorably considered for the local berth up to the time this information was received. He played last season with the St. Louis Browns and was a sensational fielder and a good hitter for the minors, but he failed to show enough batting ability to stick in the majors.

By way of keeping interest alive in golf during the next few weeks, the Druid Hills Golf club has planned a tournament for its members, covering a period of four weeks. The qualifying round for this tournament will be played on Saturday, and the four weeks following will be turned over for match play. An entrance fee of one golf ball will be charged, and those balls will be awarded to the winners and the runners up to each flight. The winner will be given ten balls and the runner up six.

By setting a time limit for match play, the golf committee may save ample time in order that tournament play may not interfere with the winter matches that player may arrange from time to time. The winter matches will be played as quality. Qualifying scores will be counted from scratch, but all match play will be figured from club handicaps.

to leave the floor voters over the home boys. The game this year is expected to prove a highly interesting affair. The Georgia team is popular here, and a record crowd for the season is expected.

Winter Tourney At Druid Hills

Several Georgetown alumni in Atlanta are interested in the proposition, and they will ask them to help in carrying out the plan. Virginia and the Virginia Military Institute both played football games with the Georgia teams last season, and it has been suggested that a trip to Atlanta and Athens the latter part of this week for such a purpose. Georgetown has already scheduled baseball games with the teams for the coming season, and desires to include one or both of the Georgia institutions on her football schedule.
